

PUBLIC SCHOOL EXIT

Rescuing Our Children

Providing Parents and Churches
Opportunities to Rescue our Children from Public Schools and Reclaim K-12 Education

Welcome to Public School Exit

Inside these pages, discover a “how-to” pamphlet filled with practical alternatives to the dictates of tax-funded, K-12 public education.

Parents bear the primary responsibility for the education of their children, and church communities can offer much in the way of support.

To assist in this process, this pamphlet and website gives parents and churches a launching pad. We have “vetted” the curricula, tools and resources to the best of our ability that present solid academics aligned with foundational biblical principles.

This journey is the most positive and uplifting direction families, along with churches, will ever take to combat the forces of darkness in today’s culture. Congratulations for taking the first step towards this exciting and rewarding opportunity!

ABOUT PUBLIC SCHOOL EXIT

Several years ago, top experts in the homeschooling movement and educational reform got together to form www.PublicSchoolExit.com - to provide solutions for parents who desire to exit their children from government-controlled education.

Reforming unbiblical and unconstitutional government schools is a colossal waste of time and money. All efforts to pass legislation or stop legislation from being enacted have been to no avail. We cannot afford to lose another generation.

When COVID hit in 2020, children across America were forced into homeschool and online education (Distance Learning). This historic opportunity gave rise to a mass exodus from government schools. Also, COVID moved churches into the non-essential category, attempting to shut down and destroy their influence in society.

We believe a new era is upon us, and we are here to seize the day. We help America’s parents and churches become our children’s educators by returning to time-tested biblical principles. Public School Exit provides solutions and expert know-how to assist families and churches in becoming the educators of their flock and becoming an outreach of influence to their local community.

Russian Dictator Vladimir Lenin said, “Give me just one generation of youth, and I’ll transform the whole world.” The Left is transforming our children into Marxists and using them as their weapon of choice to destroy America.

Public School Exit’s mission is to facilitate an exodus of American children and families from government-controlled instruction by educating the public, helping families, and equipping the Church. We are more than an organization; we are a movement. Find a list of our Board and Partners on www.PublicSchoolExit.com - Go to “About Us”

MANDATE

“Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations . . . teaching them to observe all that I commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” (Matthew 28:19-20)

Many American Christians neglect to live this mandate. They hand their children over to a secular, worldly system designed to promote the interests of the state over those of God, parents, the local church, and local communities. If we plan to teach and disciple our children, we, Christ’s Church, must teach them in our homes, or in schools that are free from the constrictions of taxpayer funding.

Out of the 50.8 million American children in public schools (Guide2Research, 1)¹, most spend 35+ hours per week being indoctrinated and an additional 20 hours watching TV (Science Daily, 2)². It is not surprising that 66% of church teens leave the Church after high school (Lifeway Research, 3)³.

“The most significant cause retarding the growth of Christian influence in our country is the refusal to teach God’s MANDATE for Christian education, and “taking cover” rather than addressing the urgent need for Christian education. Many pastors “take cover” for fear of offending public-school employees and families in their churches. Instead of rising to lead by calling churches to begin Christian schools or by encouraging homeschooling, pastors ignore education altogether and avoid teaching parents the clear biblical principles for educating children.” (Mt. 19:14, Mt. 28:18-20, Dt. 6:1-9, Eph. 6:4). E Ray Moore, Director, Exodus Mandate and Chairman of the Board, Public School Exit

Many pastors think a Christian education program is too much work or outside their own church’s mission. There is no better way to fulfill the Great Commission than teaching our children. Furthermore, there are many different Christian educational models from which to choose.

Opening church doors during the week to homeschool co-ops, one-room schoolteachers, university model schools, and various other Christian educational opportunities is already happening and continues to grow.

In the following pages, we will explore some of the simplest methods to quickly implement that can facilitate our mass exodus from the current public-education system. But first, consider this list of Reasons to Exit.

You may not be aware of what has happened to public schools over the years with the adoption of radical policies mandated for your children. New laws and mandates are passed under our noses, which should be alarming to any parent or concerned American. While laws and curriculum differ state-to-state, the trajectory seems to be the same: Prayer, Bible, civics and true American history are out — while Islamic training, Black Lives Matter curriculum, Comprehensive Sex Education, revised history, socialism are in! Watch out! Learn. Beware.

TESTIMONIALS

“I homeschooled seven children, my oldest is 33, youngest is now 18, and they survived the influence of drugs, tattoos, gender confusion, rebellion and are now well-established in careers and living a good God-ordained life. They recognize they have become “stand-outs” in their chosen profession. They are well-equipped with skills that demonstrate initiative, problem solving, how to deflect negative influences, and are constant self-learners who apply critical thinking. I am proud of who they have become.” Mary York, Homeschool Mom and Representative of CHEA

“We can’t expect our children to learn even basic morals in the institutionalized schools, certainly not from the curricula, and only maybe a bit from teachers. If we want our children to adopt our Judeo-Christian values, we must educate them ourselves. So many parents are learning this lesson the hard way — and too late — by leaving their kids in government schools and losing them to the secular gods.” Sam Sorbo, Homeschool Mom, author of They’re Your Kids and nationally recognized education advocate.

“Our best days as a family were homeschooling our children. Now as a grandparent, I believe it is our duty to sow into our grandchildren. We gladly support our daughter and son-in-law by helping to pay for our grandchildren’s Christian education.” Dran Reese, Homeschool Mom, CEO Public School Exit and President of The Salt & Light Council

“Homeschooling is one of the best decisions my wife and I ever made for our five children. It is fun, liberating and rewarding all at the same time. Not only did the Lord make a way for it to work financially, but He has truly blessed us for following His guidelines on discipleship and education. I wouldn’t trade it for the world. Churches can play a key role in facilitating this.” Alex Newman, Homeschool Dad, Executive Director of Public School Exit, award-winning journalist, author and speaker.

“I have homeschooled all my children from birth through high school graduation. I have graduated five of my children to go into college — the sixth one has just two years to go! It has been the most fulfilling work of my life. Don’t think of it as “school” — think of it as growing up the next generation of American leaders. I love the freedom of customizing education to each child. As parents, we know our children better than any public school stranger. We know how they will thrive, what they are most passionate about, and how close their heart is to God. Nurturing the heart of a child in a wholistic way produces successful adults.” Beth Ahlers, Homeschool Mom, Leader of Salt & Light Ministry in her Church

“God clearly orchestrated my transition from career-driven bank executive to homeschool mom for my two children. It turned into a huge, 13-year blessing with lasting (eternal) ramifications, not only for my kids but for me as well. Day by day, we deepened our relationship with God and with each other. Together we learned to see His fingerprints in all of the various subjects we studied. My girls are grown now, successfully “launched.” However, as I perceive them being challenged by ungodly beliefs — as indeed our entire society is now permeated by the enemy’s lies — it is very reassuring to know that in those formative years, homeschooling provided a solid foundation for them.” Gwen Mecklenburg, Homeschool Mom and Ambassador Captain for Alliance Defending Freedom

SCRIPTURE

The Bible, the world’s best-selling book, has much to say about who’s responsible for educating children:

Deuteronomy 6:6-7 - “And you must commit yourselves wholeheartedly to these commands that I am giving you today. Repeat them again and again to your children. Talk about them when you are at home and when you are on the road, when you are going to bed and when you are getting up.”

Proverbs 22:6 - “Direct your children onto the right path, and when they are older, they will not leave it.”

Proverbs 1:8, 9 - “My child listen when your father corrects you. Don’t neglect your mother’s instruction. What you learn from them will crown you with grace and be a chain of honor around your neck.”

Proverbs 13:20 - “He who walks with the wise grows wise, but a companion of fools suffers harm.”

Isaiah 54:13 - “All your children will have God for their teacher — what a mentor for your children!”

Jeremiah 10:2 - “Learn not the way of the heathen.”

Luke 6:39, 40 - “Then Jesus gave the following illustration: ‘Can one blind person lead another? Won’t they both fall into a ditch? Students are not greater than their teacher. But the student who is fully trained will become like the teacher.’”

Luke 7:35 - “But wisdom is proved right by all her children.”

Colossians 2:8 - “See to it that no one takes you captive through hollow and deceptive philosophy, which depends on human tradition and the basic principles of this world.”

EDUCATIONAL OPTIONS

To start a Co-Op Homeschool, One-Room School, Umbrella School, Membership Association, or University Model at your church, open your building one to two days a week for families of K-12 children to meet.

Let's take ownership of the education of the next generation of children. Not only will you be fulfilling your God-given destiny; you will bless young families.

This fantastic opportunity will build long-term relationships. Your church membership will increase by attracting young families who will stay for a minimum of 13 years: K-12. College-level courses are also now available!

Homeschool Church-Parent Co-Op

Simply put, parents homeschool their children and the church opens its location for some of the classes. It could be once a week, twice a week, or more. A church can provide facilities for families to meet based on the level of interest.

A church's classroom environment may offer the perfect opportunity for specific courses a parent feels unqualified to teach, such as science, geometry, or computers. It can be all grades in one classroom for one subject or separated. (See One-Room School Method next)

Classes at church allow children to socialize, have group interaction, and learn communication skills with their peers and other adults.

Who teaches the courses?

It can be

1. Volunteer Led: The church can identify members who are interested in giving back their area of expertise or knowledge. Many will gladly volunteer to be teachers (and mentors). (i.e., credentialed teachers, retired teachers, grandparents).
2. Parent-Led: Additionally, instructors could also be other homeschool parents who trade off teaching different subjects.
3. Educator Led: Families and the church can raise funds to pay for an expert educator in that field.

The One-Room School Method

For centuries in America, children received formal education in one-room schoolhouses from teachers who simultaneously managed all ages. Not only did it work — it worked very well. The One-Room School Method empowers churches to organically grow an educational program using the resources available to them, no matter their sizes.

As God sent Moses to challenge Egypt's gods with just a shepherd's rod, God equips local churches to bring their children out of the state school system using The One-Room School Method.

All it takes to start is a teacher who understands the call of the Great Commission: to teach all that Christ commands us. The One-Room School Method gives teachers and administrators the resources to start a school from the ground up in one room.

You can find a teacher or train up a teacher who loves working with all age levels. The One-Room School Method is the perfect way to begin small.

Multiple grades in one classroom enables students to review concepts and learn new concepts above their own grade level. Peer tutoring, class projects, and a family atmosphere all contribute to learning.

The teacher would be paid directly by the parents. This model utilizes the church venue from three-to-five days a week.

Umbrella School: Church Membership Association Co-Op

The church would be responsible for the administration, while the daily education is done at home by parents, with some additional church activities.

An excellent example of a successful Umbrella School is Pastor Carl Broggi's Community Bible Church Christian Academy in Beaufort, South Carolina. His co-op is a membership association for homeschool parents with a collective minimum of 50 homeschool families, which are under the oversight of his church as a ministry. He has been doing this very successfully for the past 30 years. Students have graduated and have been accepted into very prestigious universities.

While the church does the administrative portion, including SAT testing, keeping student records, etc., parents choose their curriculum and can utilize any co-op recommendations.

University Model

The University Model Program is another exciting and dynamic educational model that meets the K-12th grade students' needs. It operates out of any local church venue through a partnership with Independent Learning Academy (ILA).

ILA pays the church for the use of their venue and has a business relationship.

ILA is an educational model that affords the homeschooling family - parents and students - the ability to customize their educational needs and experience. Parents can select from many core and elective courses and schedule the classes at the church venue. Those classes meet either once or twice a week with a teacher.

ILA has been in operation since 2012, with two very successful church campuses and a third on its way. Public School Exit believes these present exciting opportunities for churches to fulfill the role of encouraging parents to train up their children in the way they should go. (Proverbs 22:6)

Christian Day Schools

A school that is founded upon, and in every respect in harmony with, God's written Word.

TOP 3 BIGGEST OBJECTIONS -

Parents:

1. I can't afford to stay home to educate my children.
2. I have no idea where to start and I am not qualified.
3. How will my children ever be socialized?

Pastors:

1. Who is going to Administer this?
2. How do we pay for it?
3. What is my exposure? Insurance and Liability?

We understand some parents do not have the ability to tighten their belts or redirect their spending, in some rare cases.

Indeed, the church could set up a scholarship fund and come alongside families in need. What a wonderful opportunity to help parents, single parents, and children break free into a world-class biblical education! Biblical worldview education is a worthy mission for any church, and it is tax-deductible!

Second, in answer to parents feeling unqualified, we at Public School Exit can assuredly give parents the confidence to step right into the most rewarding, energizing and bonding experience any family can have. There are tens of thousands of parents that have made this leap! It is not as difficult as you think.

As far as Pastoral objections, we have an obligation to God to preach His whole counsel, not a portion. By analysis, prayer, and a willingness to seek paths of righteousness for His name's sake, we can together overcome any stumbling blocks to provide quality and healthy biblical-worldview education.

FINAL THOUGHTS

Pastors, we at Public School Exit recognize the responsibility before God for parents to provide a K-12 Christian education for their children. The churches, private associations, or ministries as illustrated above can assist, facilitate and provide services for this process. (2 Timothy 4:2 and Matthew 28:20)

You can also do the following:

- Provide books, literature, and recommended K-12 Christian education sites for congregation members and families.
- Provide special speakers and weekend conferences in the local church on the urgency and importance of K-12 Christian education.
- Instruct and inform pastors in your associations, fellowships, and denominations of the need to grow and provide K-12 Christian education services in their churches through possible media interviews, debates, and forums.
- Direct congregation members to the <http://www.publicschoolexit.com> website that provides K-12 Christian education services.
- Support K-12 Christian education projects outside of the local church and defend religious liberty of K-12 Christian education against government encroachment.
- Create a church-run scholarship program. Dr. Max Lyons, of both FACE (Foundation for American Christian Education and CESP (Christian Education Scholarship Program) offers plans for safe, non-tax funded scholarship programs that provide funding for poor or needy families. Engage the business community to support K-12 Christian education scholarship programs and other capital programs. Our website provides answers to many questions, including legal counsel. If we don't have the answer, we will help to find it! We will not stop until we have talked to every church and encouraged each one to take control of providing options to support families in the education of their children. We can no longer count on government funded state schools to care for our children and feed their precious minds truth. This is the future of education and the duty before God of every parent and church. If we can do it, I guarantee, you can do it!
